Sincerely,

Long Cheng, Andrew Leung, and Seiichi Ozawa

Program Chairs, ICONIP 2018

Authors' Instructions for Final Camera-Ready Paper

Please follow the five steps:

(1) Revise your paper as soon as possible according to the reviewers' suggestions/comments. You may view the reviewers' comments/suggestions in your author's account of the ICONIP 2018 Online Submission System (https://easychair.org/conferences/?conf=iconip2018). Please improve your writing if possible.

(2) Prepare your camera-ready paper in the exact format as the sample paper for Springer LNCS (template files are provided in the Submission page). Please read the Authors Guidelines carefully before preparing your papers (http://conference.cs.cityu.edu.hk/isnn/author%20guidelines.pdf). Please note that a camera-ready paper shall have typically 12 pages, and additional page(s) is (are) subject to overlength surcharge.

(3) Upload your paper in the online paper submission system (https://easychair.org/conferences/?conf=iconip2018) from the "Proceedings" of the top menu. Besides submitting the PDF file, you must submit the source files such as the WORD and LaTeX files. We recommend that you place all your files in one directory, zip the directory, and upload the zipped file which contains all necessary files.

(4) Fill out the copyright form. Please complete the online electronic Copyright Form (http://conference.cs.cityu.edu.hk/iconip/copyright_form.pdf). The title of the proceedings is Neural Information Processing - ICONIP 2018.

(5) Register for the conference. Please refer to the Registration page. To include each paper in the conference proceedings, at least one full registration must be made by September 1, 2018.
